

Incident 1

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 731 (Houston, TX to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Wednesday, January 1, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 12:20 AM PT

Description of animal (including name): A female Labrador, named Holly, unknown age.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival into Seattle, ramp personnel opened the cargo door to find Holly, a female Labrador loose in the cargo area. Holly had chewed out of her kennel and sustained minor cuts to her gums. Holly and her kennel were taken to baggage claim.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A female Labrador arriving Seattle had chewed out of her kennel during the flight and sustained minor cuts to her gums. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injury.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:
No photographs available

Incident 1

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 5 (Washington, DC to Los Angeles, CA)
Date of incident: Monday, March 31, 2014
Time of incident: 12:10 PM PT

Description of animal (including name): A 4-year-old, male Border Collie dog, named Ninja.

Narrative description of incident: In Washington, DC, prior to boarding, one of two dogs being shipped by the same traveler, escaped its kennel while in the baggage makeup area, by chewing out the side of its kennel. The dog ran off and was later found in good condition, with scrapes to its paws. Alaska Airlines sent the dog to a local veterinarian for an exam and paid for those charges.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A dog escaped its kennel, by chewing out the side of its kennel, and was captured that same day. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injury.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

No action required.

No photographs available

Incident 1

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 132 (Fairbanks, AK to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Monday, June 2, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 4:30 PM AT

Description of animal (including name): A 7-year-old, male, English bulldog, named Duke.

Narrative description of incident: During the upload of Flight 132 Fairbanks ramp agents noticed, that Duke, A 7-year-old, English bulldog inside his kennel, was in distress and attempting to chew and dig out of his kennel. As a result Duke's paws and mouth were bloody. Duke's owner deplaned and was advised of the situation. Duke then escaped his kennel and was caught and walked to the baggage claim area where his owner claimed him.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A 7-year- old English bulldog chewed and pawed trying to escape its kennel prior to the flight and sustained paw and mouth injuries. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 2

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 822 (Maui, HI to Portland, OR)
Date of incident: Monday, June 2, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 7:15 AM PT

Description of animal (including name): A dog, unknown age, breed, sex, or name.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Portland, OR our ramp agents noticed, that a dog had escaped its kennel sometime during the flight. The dog appeared lethargic and blood was visible on its paws and around the cargo area. The Lead agent called Port Police, Port wildlife and the dog's owner to assist with the dog. The dog was given water, and then the owner carried his dog to the baggage claim area.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A dog escaped its kennel during the flight and upon arrival the dog appeared lethargic, with bloody paws. The owner then took the dog from the aircraft cargo pit to the baggage claim. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 3

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 575 (San Diego, CA to Portland, OR)
Date of incident: Friday, June 6, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 4:51 PM PT

Description of animal (including name): A dog named Bear, unknown age, sex or breed.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Portland, OR our ramp agents noticed, that a dog named Bear had blood in its kennel. The dog appeared to have been pawing to escape the kennel and pulled out a toe nail, sometime during the flight.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A dog named Bear arrived with blood in its kennel and a missing toe nail. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 4

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 692 (Seattle, WA to San Antonio, TX)
Date of incident: Friday, June 6, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 5:37 PM CT

Description of animal (including name): A female 4-year-old cat, named Jasmyn, unknown breed.

Narrative description of incident: A female cat named Jasmyn arrived in San Antonio with bloody paws. The injury was reported by telephone, as the passengers were traveling home.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A female cat named Jasmyn arrived in San Antonio with bloody paws, there was no kennel damage. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 1

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 631 (Phoenix, AZ to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Sunday, July 13, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 8:45 AM PT

Description of animal (including name): A 2-year-old, male, pit bull, unknown name.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Seattle, WA our ramp agents found a 2-year-old, pit bull dog loose inside the cargo hold. The dog had chewed out of its kennel, as a result the dog's mouth was bloody. The dog was delivered to its owner in baggage claim.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A 2-year old pit bull dog had chewed out of his kennel, as a result the dog's mouth was bloody. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 2

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 789 (New Orleans, LA to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Monday, July 14, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 8:50 PM PT

Description of animal (including name): A 2 year-old, male, English bulldog, named Chubs.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Seattle, WA our ramp agents noticed that one of two bulldogs traveling as companions, was not moving and appeared to be lifeless. The owner of the bulldogs was met at baggage claim and was told that Chubs had passed away inflight. The owner took the bulldog home, for final disposition.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: One of two bulldogs traveling as companions, passed away during the flight. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's death.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 3

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 33 (Boston, MA to Portland, OR)
Date of incident: Saturday, July 26, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 3:45 PM ET

Description of animal (including name): A 14-year-old male Cat, named Daunte, unknown breed.

Narrative description of incident: While in Boston, MA our ramp agents were transporting Daunte from the screening area to the bag room in a baggage cart. The baggage cart went over a bump and the kennel fell from the cart, Daunte escaped from the kennel and was caught by another ramp agent, who was bit while attempting to return Daunte to his kennel and then he escaped again. Our Boston staff and the pet owner conducted an extensive search for Daunte. We overnighted the passenger at a local hotel, in the hope of reuniting them, prior to the next day's rebooked flight. The next morning Daunte was found dead, likely being struck by a vehicle on ramp. We assisted with the final disposition of Daunte's remains.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A 14 year old cat in a kennel fell from a bag cart and escaped, later being hit and killed by a ramp vehicle.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident: Alaska Airlines will work with our Boston ramp vendor on securing kennels during screening transport.

Incident 4

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 698 (Seattle, WA to Spokane, WA)
Date of incident: Saturday, July 26, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 11:54 PM PT

Description of animal (including name): A 17-year-old female cat, named Woogie, unknown breed.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Spokane, WA ramp agents noticed that Woogie, a 17 year-old cat, was not moving and appeared to be lifeless. The owner was located in the baggage claim area and told that Woogie passed away sometime during the flight, and took Woogie home with her.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A 17 year-old cat passed away during the flight. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's death.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 5

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 806 (Kona, HI to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Tuesday, July 29, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 7:42 PM PT

Description of animal (including name): A dog, unknown name, age, sex, or breed.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Seattle, WA a dog in its kennel was found with a missing toenail and blood inside the kennel. The dog had apparently been trying to escape its kennel by digging with its paws at the kennel door, which had an attached food and water dish. The pet owner was advised of the situation of the injury, prior to her two dogs being delivered to the claim area, she stated that they would take the injured dog to a vet.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A dog arrived Seattle with a missing toenail and blood present in the kennel. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 1

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 669 (Denver, CO to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Monday, August 11, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 8:11 AM MT

Description of animal (including name): A 1-year-old, male, Pyrenees/Golden Retriever mix, named Humphrey.

Narrative description of incident: Upon arrival in Seattle, WA ramp agents found a 1-year-old dog, named Humphrey had chewed through his kennel, as a result the dog's mouth and gums were bloody. Humphrey and his owner were assisted by a skycap to the car.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: A 1-year-old dog, named Humphrey had chewed through his kennel, as a result the dog's mouth and gums were bloody. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 2

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 775 (Tampa, FL to Seattle, WA)
Date of incident: Wednesday, August 20, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 5:25 PM ET

Description of animal (including name): A Female, American bulldog, named Lacy, unknown age.

Narrative description of incident: Prior to her scheduled flight in Tampa, FL, Lacy became aggressive and was trying to bite through the wire kennel vents of her kennel, as a result her mouth was bloody.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: Prior to the flight in Tampa, FL, Lacy became aggressive and tried to bite through the wire kennel vents of her kennel, as a result her mouth was bloody. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident:

Incident 3

Carrier: Alaska Airlines
Flight: 482 (Seattle, WA to Los Angeles, CA)
Date of incident: Friday, August 22, 2014
Time of incident: Approximately 6:45 PM PT

Description of animal (including name): A 2-year-old, Female, Cane Corso Dog, named Kira.

Narrative description of incident: Preflight, during transit from our Cargo building to the gate area, Kira, a 2-year-old, female dog, had broken two nails and cut her mouth, while trying to escape her kennel. Kira was brought back to the Cargo building and cleaned up and allowed to relax on the office floor, while the shipper came to pick her up and Kira didn't fly that day.

Narrative description of the cause of the incident: Kira, a 2-year-old, female dog, had broken two nails and cut her mouth, while trying to escape her kennel. There is no evidence to suggest that the airline's handling contributed to the animal's injuries.

Narrative description of any corrective action taken in response to the incident: