Introduction

The U.S. International Air Passenger and Freight Statistics report has been developed to provide the public with additional access to international aviation data. The report is restricted to nonstop commercial traffic traveling between international points and U.S. airports. Global air travel systems comprise complex, ever-changing networks and alliances. The majority of international passengers to and from the U.S. make at least one connection before reaching their final destination. This report represents a limited aspect of international travel - nonstop flows into and out of the U.S. cities that serve as an international gateway will have high numbers in this report, but users should bear in mind that some portion of this traffic continued on a connecting flight to its final destination. Conversely, U.S. carriers serve some international points only through an international connection; therefore it might look as if no U.S. carrier serves a certain international point, when in fact U.S. carrier traffic is first flowing through a connecting city. Figures for U.S. nonstop market share do not necessarily correlate to the total service provided to that point by U.S. carriers.

The widespread use of code-share agreements also influences this data. Under a code-share agreement, it is common for a passenger or cargo to fly on an aircraft owned and operated by a different airline than the one from which they bought their ticket. The data in this report represents the air carrier that operated the passenger or cargo flight reported. In some cases, such as U.S. to China, regulatory impediments make it difficult for U.S. domestic carriers to operate adequate service using their own equipment. U.S. carriers compensate by marketing and selling tickets under their own code to those destinations, and then arranging for a foreign code-share partner to actually transport the passengers. Therefore, low U.S. market share in certain restricted markets is not indicative of the true proportion of passengers purchasing U.S. carrier tickets, but rather is representative of the carrier that actually transported them. Code-sharing and network- flow data issues also apply to cargo shipments.

The data in this report is presented in a top-down format. Table 1 provides gross summaries of U.S.-international passengers, capacity, and freight. The same data is then broken down by world area and by country in Tables 2 through 5. Scheduled passenger data for the largest domestic gateway cities, the largest foreign gateway cities, and the largest U.S.-international airport-pairs can be found in Tables 6, 7, and 8. All data is derived from the T-100 Segment reports submitted to the Department by U.S. and foreign carriers.

The T-100 program was instituted by the Department of Transportation effective January 1, 1990. It covers traffic reports of foreign airlines operating to the United States and traffic reports of the domestic and international operations of U.S. airlines. The airlines submit these reports monthly to the Department's Office of Airline Information (OAI) of the Bureau of Transportation Statistics. The rules governing disclosure of the International T-100 data require that the data be kept confidential for a period of six months beyond the reporting date.

Users of this report should take the following points into consideration:

- The T-100 segment data includes all traffic arriving at U.S. airports and departing from U.S. airports on nonstop commercial international flights.
- Prior to October 1st 2002, air carriers that operated aircraft with 60 seats or less were not required to file T-100 data. Therefore prior to October 1st 2002, passenger volume in particular markets—particularly the Caribbean and certain Canadian markets – had been understated in this report due to the large amount of service provided by small aircraft.
- T-100 data represents only nonstop service. The absence of U.S. nonstop service, or a low U.S. flag market share, does not necessarily correlate to the amount of service provided to that point by U.S. carriers. Many international destinations are served by U.S. carriers via connecting points. Those not heavily served on a nonstop basis are underrepresented in this report.
- Conversely, traffic on U.S.-international routes that serve as connecting gateways will exceed the number of true Origin & Destination passengers on the route because of the high percentage of traffic connecting through the gateway.
- Code-share relationships may cause U.S. carriers to seem under-represented in certain restrictive markets. This data is reported according to the operating carrier. In extensive code-share relationships (particularly to certain Asian countries) U.S. airlines sell a large number of tickets to passengers and then provide transport through the foreign code-share partner.
- Cargo carriers also employ the use of networks and code-share arrangements; therefore, cargo data is susceptible to the same reporting shortcomings in this report as passenger data.
- Freight tons do not include mail.
- The T100 dataset is dynamic and subject to edits and updates. The data in this report represent a snapshot of the T100 segment on the day the report tables are generated. This report will contain most recent data for the current month and previous 35 months.

This report is available on the Internet at <https://www.transportation.gov/policy/aviation-policy/us-international-air-passenger-and-freight-statistics-report>. More extensive International T-100 data is also posted at this location in a downloadable format.
