

SUBJECT: U.S. DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION ACTIONS TO ADDRESS ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE IN MINORITY POPULATIONS AND LOW-INCOME POPULATIONS

1. PURPOSE AND AUTHORITY:

This Order updates environmental justice procedures for the U.S. Department of Transportation (Department or DOT) in response to the Memorandum of Understanding on Environmental Justice signed by heads of Federal agencies on August 4, 2011, DOT's revised Environmental Justice Strategy, updated on November 15, 2016, and Executive Order 12898, Federal Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations, dated February 11, 1994. "Environmental justice" is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people, regardless of race, ethnicity, income, national origin, or educational level, with respect to the development, implementation and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations and policies. For the purpose of DOT's Environmental Justice Strategy, fair treatment means that no population, due to policy or economic disempowerment, is forced to bear a disproportionate burden of the negative human health and environmental impacts, including social and economic effects, resulting from transportation decisions, programs and policies made, implemented and enforced at the Federal, State, local or tribal level.

The Department's original Environmental Justice Order, issued April 15, 1997, was a key component of the Department's original strategy and established procedures to be used by DOT to comply with Executive Order 12898. This revised Order continues to be a key component of DOT's Environmental Justice Strategy. It updates and clarifies certain aspects of the original Order while maintaining its general framework and procedures and commitment to promoting the principles of environmental justice in all DOT programs, policies, and activities. Relevant definitions are in the Appendix.

Executive Order 12898 requires each Federal agency, to the greatest extent practicable and permitted by law, to achieve environmental justice as part of its mission by identifying and addressing, as appropriate, disproportionately high and adverse human health or environmental effects, including interrelated social and economic effects, of its programs, policies, and activities on minority populations and low-income populations in the United States. Compliance with this DOT Order is a key element in the Environmental Justice Strategy adopted by DOT to implement the Executive Order, and can be achieved within the framework of existing laws, regulations, and guidance.

Consistent with paragraph 6-609 of Executive Order 12898, this Order is limited to improving the internal management of DOT and is not intended to, nor does it, create any rights, benefits, or trust responsibility, substantive or procedural, enforceable at law or equity, by a party against the Department, its Operating Administrations, its officers, or any person. Nor should this Order be construed to create any right to judicial review involving the compliance or noncompliance with this Order by the Department, its Operating Administrations, its officers or any other person.

2. SCOPE:

DOT's Operating Administrations, and all other DOT components.

3. CANCELLATION:

This Order cancels and supersedes DOT Order 5610.2B, dated November 18, 2020, titled "Department of Transportation Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations."

4. EFFECTIVE DATE:

This Order is effective upon its date of execution.

5. POLICY:

- a. It is the policy of DOT to promote the principles of environmental justice (as embodied in the Executive Order) through the incorporation of those principles in all DOT programs, policies, and activities. This will be done by fully considering environmental justice principles throughout planning and decision-making processes in the development of programs, policies, and activities, using the principles of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VI), the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, as amended, (URA), the Fixing America's Surface Transportation Act, Pub. L. No. 114-94, (FAST Act) and other DOT statutes, regulations and guidance that address or affect infrastructure planning and decision-making; social, economic, or environmental matters; public health; and public involvement.
- b. In complying with this Order, DOT will rely upon existing authority to collect data and conduct research associated with environmental justice concerns. To the extent permitted by existing law, and whenever practical and appropriate to ensure that disproportionately high and adverse effects on minority or low-income populations are identified and addressed, DOT shall collect, maintain, and analyze information on the race, color, national origin, and income level of persons adversely affected by DOT programs, policies, and activities, and use such information in complying with this Order.

6. INTEGRATION WITH EXISTING OPERATIONS:

- a. The Office of the Secretary and each Operating Administration shall determine the most effective and efficient way of integrating the processes and objectives of this Order with their existing regulations and guidance.
- b. In undertaking the integration with existing operations described in paragraph 5a, DOT shall observe the following principles:
 - i. Environmental justice principles apply to planning and programming activities, and early planning activities are a critical means to avoid disproportionately high and adverse effects in future programs, policies, and activities. Planning and programming activities for policies, programs, and activities that have the potential to have a disproportionately high and adverse effect on human health or the environment shall include explicit consideration of the effects on minority populations and low-income populations. DOT shall avoid imposing adverse effects on minority and low-income communities through overly burdensome requirements that hinder projects and deprive communities of economic opportunity. Procedures shall be established or expanded, as necessary, to provide meaningful opportunities for public engagement with members of minority populations and low-income populations during the planning and development of programs, policies, and activities (including the identification of potential effects, alternatives, and mitigation measures).
 - ii. Steps shall be taken to provide the public, including members of minority populations and low-income populations, access to public information concerning the human health or environmental impacts of programs, policies, and activities, including information that will address the concerns of minority and low-income populations regarding the health and environmental impacts of the proposed action. This includes ensuring that information is made available in languages other than English and in accessible formats for persons with disabilities.
- c. Future rulemaking activities undertaken pursuant to the DOT Order on “Policies and Procedures for Rulemakings” and the development of any future guidance or procedures for DOT programs, policies, or activities that affect human health or the environment, shall address compliance with Executive Order 12898 and this Order, as appropriate.
- d. The formulation of future DOT policy statements and proposals for legislation that may affect human health or the environment shall include consideration of the provisions of Executive Order 12898 and this Order.

7. ONGOING DOT RESPONSIBILITY:

Compliance with Executive Order 12898 is an ongoing DOT responsibility. DOT will continuously monitor its programs, policies, and activities to ensure that disproportionately high and adverse human health and environmental effects on minority populations and low-income populations are avoided, minimized or mitigated in a manner consistent with this Order and Executive Order 12898. This Order does not alter existing assignments or delegations of authority to the Operating Administrations or other DOT components.

8. PREVENTING DISPROPORTIONATELY HIGH AND ADVERSE EFFECTS:

- a. Under Title VI, each Federal agency is required to ensure that no person, on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, is excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance. This statute affects every program area in DOT. Consequently, DOT managers and staff must administer their programs in a manner to assure that no person is excluded from participating in, denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination by any program or activity of DOT because of race, color, or national origin. Although Title VI is a key tool agencies have to achieve environmental justice goals, it is important to recognize that Title VI imposes statutory and regulatory requirements that are broader in scope than environmental justice. There may be some overlap between environmental justice and Title VI analyses; however, engaging in environmental justice analysis under Federal transportation planning and NEPA provisions will not necessarily satisfy Title VI requirements. Similarly, a Title VI analysis would not necessarily satisfy environmental justice requirements, because Title VI does not include low-income populations. Moreover, Title VI applies to all Federally-funded projects and activities, not solely those that may have adverse human health or environmental effects on communities.
- b. It is DOT's policy to administer and monitor its operations and decision-making to ensure that nondiscrimination and the prevention of disproportionately high and adverse effects are an integral part of its programs, policies, and activities. DOT currently administers policies, programs, and activities that are subject to the requirements of NEPA, Title VI, URA, FAST Act and other statutes that involve human health or environmental matters, or interrelated social and economic impacts. These requirements will be administered so as to identify, early in the development and planning of the program, policy, or activity, the risk of discrimination and disproportionately high and adverse effects so that positive corrective action can be taken. In implementing these requirements, the following information should be obtained where relevant, appropriate and practical:
 - Population served and/or affected by the program, policy, or activity by race, color, national origin, and income level;
 - Proposed steps to guard against disproportionately high and adverse effects on persons on the basis of race, color, national origin, and income level;
 - Present and proposed membership by race, color, national origin, in any planning or advisory body that is part of the program, policy, or activity.
- c. Statutes governing DOT operations will be administered so as to identify and avoid discrimination and avoid disproportionately high and adverse effects on minority populations and low-income populations by:

1. Identifying and evaluating environmental, public health, and interrelated social and economic effects of DOT programs, policies, and activities.
2. Proposing measures to avoid, minimize and/or mitigate disproportionately high and adverse environmental and public health effects and interrelated social and economic effects, and providing offsetting benefits and opportunities to enhance communities, neighborhoods, and individuals affected by DOT programs, policies, and activities, where permitted by law and consistent with the Executive Order.
3. Considering alternatives to proposed programs, policies, and activities, where such alternatives would result in avoiding and/or minimizing disproportionately high and adverse human health or environmental impacts, consistent with the Executive Order, and
4. Eliciting public engagement opportunities and considering the results thereof, including soliciting input from affected minority and low-income populations in considering alternatives.

9. ACTIONS TO ADDRESS DISPROPORTIONATELY HIGH AND ADVERSE EFFECTS:

- a. Following the guidance set forth in this Order, its Appendix, and DOT's Environmental Justice Strategy, the head of each Operating Administration and the responsible officials for other DOT components shall determine whether programs, policies, or activities for which they are responsible will have an adverse human health or environmental effect on minority and low-income populations and whether that adverse effect will be disproportionately high.
- b. In making determinations regarding disproportionately high and adverse effects on minority and low-income populations, mitigation and enhancement measures that will be implemented and all offsetting benefits to the affected minority and low-income populations may be taken into account, as well as the design, comparative impacts, and the relevant number of similar existing system elements in non-minority and non-low-income areas.
- c. The Operating Administrators and other responsible DOT officials will ensure that any of their respective programs, policies or activities that will have a disproportionately high and adverse effect on minority populations or low-income populations will only be carried out if further mitigation measures or alternatives that would avoid or reduce the disproportionately high and adverse effect are not practicable. In determining whether a mitigation measure or an alternative is "practicable," the social, economic (including costs) and environmental effects of avoiding or mitigating the adverse effects will be taken into account.

- d. The Operating Administrations and other responsible DOT officials will also ensure that any of their respective programs, policies, or activities that will have a disproportionately high and adverse effect on populations protected by Title VI (“protected populations”) will only be carried out if:
 - i. A substantial need for the program, policy, or activity exists, based on the overall public interest; and
 - ii. Alternatives that would have less adverse effects on protected populations (and that still satisfy the need identified in subparagraph d(i) above), either
 1. Would have other adverse social, economic, environmental or human health impacts that are severe; or
 2. Would involve increased costs of extraordinary magnitude.
- e. DOT's responsibilities under Title VI and related statutes and regulations are not limited by this paragraph, nor do the steps listed above meet Title VI requirements. This paragraph does not limit or preclude claims by individuals or groups of people with respect to any DOT programs, policies, or activities under these authorities. Nothing in this Order adds to or reduces existing Title VI due process mechanisms. Operating Administrations and responsible officials must take appropriate steps to ensure compliance with Title VI and other applicable civil rights statutes.
- f. The findings, determinations, and/or demonstration made in accordance with this section must be appropriately documented, normally in the environmental impact statement or other NEPA document prepared for the program, policy, or activity, or in other appropriate planning or program documentation.

Pete Buttigieg
Secretary of Transportation
