Dialogue between Government and Industry

Location:Grand Ballroom (Conference Center 1F)

Participants: all

A robust transportation system is vital to global trade. Focusing on the theme of “technology and innovation creates development opportunities,” this panel will discuss opportunities in the transportation sector of both countries. One such opportunity may come from embracing new technologies that advance safety, security, efficiency, environmental protection, and sustainability objectives. Such new technological innovations create new products and methods, which in turn creates investment opportunities in both countries.

Moderator:Julie Abraham, Director of the Office of International Transportation and Trade in the Office of the Secretary, DOT
